

FOSTERING GUIDELINES

Thank you for opening your home to a rescue dog! The time limit to save shelter dogs can be as short as 3 days, so Foster Care is really critical to saving lives. Foster homes can be short-term (a few days to a couple of weeks) or long-term (several weeks or months). Ideally, dogs stay in the same foster home until adopted.

Rescued Pyrs can come from any of the states NGPR serves east of the Mississippi (map at left) but a large number come out of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi.

The majority of the dogs needing foster care come out of kill shelters, although occasionally some are taken directly from owners that are surrendering their dog. NGPR will not pull dogs with known aggression toward humans. We also ask shelters or nearby volunteers to evaluate the dog with other dogs and cats whenever possible.

Since most of our foster homes and adopters have other pets, we try to take in dogs who are generally good with other animals. Same-sex aggression is fairly common in Pyrs, but we can usually work with this through appropriate placement.

When a foster is ready for a new dog, we place the next dog in line who is an appropriate match for the foster home. Foster placement is more of an art than a science, so if a dog is not a good fit in the home, we will do our best to move the dog elsewhere.

Prior to receiving a dog, a standard foster contract is issued. This outlines the responsibilities of the foster and our responsibilities as a rescue so everyone understands their role and obligations. All medications including flea/tick and heartworm preventative are provided. Adoption applications are screened by coordinators, but the foster needs to be willing to speak to applicants, answer questions about the dog, and possibly meet with a potential adopter. Our goal is to find forever homes, so it's important for fosters to fully participate in the adoption process to help find the best match.

Preparation

- Your dogs should be up-to-date on their vaccinations before you agree to foster. This includes Bordetella vaccinations. Dogs coming from shelters can carry upper respiratory viruses, so please completely vaccinate your dogs.
- Your state foster coordinator will ask about your pets, fencing, and children and other information in order to determine which dog would work best in your home. If your foster dog is coming straight from a shelter, please understand your foster coordinator may not have all the information on the dog and you must be prepared to handle any unwanted behavior at least in the short-term. If the dog is being transferred from another foster home, you may certainly feel free to contact that foster home via email or phone to discuss the dog.

- Understand that rescues cannot always account for how a dog will act in a new situation. Fosters should be ready to deal with barking, growling, marking or other undesirable behaviors. An extra crate is considered an essential piece of equipment in a foster home, as is a belly band for male dogs.
- Before your dog arrives, take the time to carefully review in their entirety our Your New Rescue Dog booklet; the Quickstart Guide; Nothing in Life is Free Training; Calming Signals; Pyr Problem Solving; and How to Break Up A Fight Between Pyrs. The Training Tips page on our website is for fosters.
- Prepare to feed dogs separately. Many of our dogs come into rescue in an emaciated state and may guard their food. All dogs should feel secure while eating. This will lessen any food guarding.

Arrival

Please understand that we seldom know the dog's back story. Therefore we depend on you to get to know the dog and the dog's quirks, which all dogs, like people, have. Always remember that few foster dogs have been raised in a loving home like you are providing and they may not behave or be as well-adjusted as your own dog(s) are as a result.

Take time to introduce the dogs. This can take up to a few days. The last thing you want to do is to walk in the door with a new dog and have that dog face-to-face with your dogs! Some suggestions for introducing the dogs include:

- Introduce the new dog to your dog(s) away from your home, and never nose-to-nose.
- Arrange to meet the new dog in a park or on a nearby street.
- Walk the dogs together so they can start to feel that the new dog is part of the pack before you bring the new dog home with you.
- After the dogs meet on neutral territory outside, the human should enter the house first, NEW dog should enter the house next, with the resident dog a safe distance behind.
- Try to arrange a separate area for the new dog in your house so you can introduce the dogs gradually and monitor their behavior.
- Do not leave dog bones or ANY toys lying around in the first few weeks.
- When possible, use a baby gate to keep the new dog in a separate space where he can see and smell the other dogs and you can observe his reaction to cats.
- Please do not allow foster dogs on the couch or human beds. Future adopters may not want their dogs on furniture. Avoiding the furniture for the foster dogs also avoids any conflict in getting them off. Puppies also should not be allowed up as jumping off is not good for their young joints.
- It's a good idea to leave a leash on the new dog for the first few days, even when not with the other dog, and have leashes on both dogs if they are all together and you have another person to handle the resident dog.
- Dogs should be watched closely around tight spaces and should NEVER be allowed to try to go out or come in through a doorway at the same time. Doorways are a very common spot for starting altercations.
- Be knowledgeable about the veterinary care the dog has received and keep all records. If the dog is coming from a shelter, he may or may not have had any veterinary care. You should restrict the places where a dog coming directly from shelter goes for several days and his/her exposure to your pets in case the dog has any communicable diseases. This includes careful clean-up of any feces. PLEASE CHECK THE PAPERWORK THAT CAME WITH THE DOG. If any of the items below are missing, please notify your state coordinator. All NGPR dogs who are at least 4 months old are required to have:
  - DH2PP (5-in-1 shot)
  - Rabies vaccination and certification
  - Bordetella vaccination
  - NGPR ID tag
  - Microchip (These chips are always secondarily registered to the rescue and can always be traced back to NGPR).
  - Neutered or spayed (unless medically unfeasible)
  - Tested for heartworms, lyme, ehrlichia, and anaplasmosis with a snap 4 or other comparable tests. Many shelters only do a snap for heartworms so the test will have to be repeated with a snap 4.
  - For puppies younger than 4 months, please refer to the Puppy Protocol PDF.

- Try brushing the dog after a couple of days to see how he/she reacts to grooming.
- If any medical or reimbursable costs are required during the foster period, you will need advance approval. Contact information is provided on the Foster Transmittal Form you will receive before getting the dog. If approval is not received before a veterinary visit, you may be liable for these costs unless it is an emergency situation. Heartworm or flea medication and dewormers should be obtained from Sandy Clary sandyspyrnewf60@hotmail.com by filling out the attached form (Attachment A) or emailing her. And because everyone forgets, it's a good idea to keep track of when medications are administered on the Medication Log (Attachment B).

In the Home

- Feed the dogs in separate places. Each dog should have his/her own feeding station and water bowl, at least ten feet apart. Pick up all bowls after each dog has had a period of time for eating. Do not allow dogs to graze. Most fights occur over food.
- Do not feed or give treats to the foster when in close proximity to your dog to avoid resource guarding issues. Do not leave dog bones or other high-value items lying around.
- Do not leave dogs unsupervised in your home until you are confident there will not be any problem. Monitor the playing and avoid rough play so dogs are not hurt.
- There will be some squabbling, but you should be able to control this. If a fight occurs, separate the dogs by grabbing each dogs' tail, not their head and neck. Use a broom to 'shoo' them apart or use a spray bottle to squirt water on them.

Communication

The primary means of communication is through email so please check your email daily. This allows us to communicate with multiple people at once. When replying to a group email, please hit "reply all" so we can all get your response, if appropriate.

Listing the Dog

All NGPR dogs are listed on the nationalpyr.org website, nationalpyr.org/adoptable-dogs, Petfinder and other pet search engines. Click here to access the Foster Q& A form to complete to get your foster dog listed. Please submit the form within a week or two of your foster dog's arrival. The sooner we receive it, the sooner we can work on finding a forever home. The form will be assigned to a writer who may contact you with any questions they have. Please review the listing after it is written to ensure it accurately reflects your dog and contact your state coordinator if you think changes should be made.

Three photos, or 2 photos and 1 video can be used for the listing. PHOTOS SELL THE DOG, so they should not be blurry, too far away or contain too much to distract the eye from the dog. Tips on photographing your dog can be found here. If you do not have a camera or a phone capable of taking a decent photo, please call your state coordinator to see if there is someone in your area who can take photos. Photos should include a good head shot, body shots, action shots and as many photos of your pup looking adorable with toys. No people or other dogs for the initial photos that will be used for the dog's listing. However, we encourage you to take photos of your foster dog for social media that may include people or other dogs.

Social Media

- NGPR has a Facebook page: NationalPyrRescue, which is open to the public. This is a very active site and we are always looking for new photos and/or stories to engage the interest of the viewing public.

- NGPR group Facebook page for volunteers only is: NGPR's Foster Family page. Please go to the page in Facebook and ask. Photos, stories and videos can be posted by members on this page, which an administrator will add to the national public Facebook page.
- Members are encouraged to and frequently post updates and questions about their foster dog on the Foster Family page. No one has all the answers but collectively we know a lot and are happy to share our knowledge.
- You are also welcome to post your foster dog on your personal Facebook page and share. Please make sure you say the dog is with NGPR and the location. Many foster dogs have found homes through social media networking.
- NGPR also has a Twitter account, a Instagram page @nationalpyrrescue and a TikTok page where dogs can be posted. Any questions about social media, please contact Sharon Wiesenhahn.

Adoption

- Be prepared to give and get lots of love! Keep in mind it is difficult to say good-bye but necessary for your foster to move on to their forever home.
- Do not be in a hurry to place a dog. People are not "doing us a favor" by taking the dog. They are getting a special forever friend and it is an honor to share life with a Pyr. If you are no longer able to accommodate a dog, it's better to move the dog to another foster home rather than rush a placement.
- Typically homes with short fences, working dogs, multiple dogs with no fence, more than one female in the home, puppies in pairs, service dogs and/or underground/electronic fencing are not eligible to adopt.
- All adoption applications are assigned to an adoption coordinator. The coordinator will contact you once they have screened and approved an application that is interested in your foster. Please be honest in assessing the adoption application with your foster dog. If your foster and the applicant have potential as a match, please contact the applicant. If you don't think it's a good fit, let the coordinator know so they can continue to look for another dog.
- After you have spoken with an applicant, they may want to do a meet and greet. Choose a neutral area such as a park in order to minimize any guarding or issues with your own dogs. Help us to determine if the adopters are the right forever home by carefully observing their interactions with the dog. Your input weighs heavily in approving a home for your foster, so please be candid with your thoughts.
- Let the potential adopters know that they are welcome to meet the dog however they cannot take the dog home with them the same day. (An exception may be made in certain circumstances but only when approved arrangements are made in advance of the meet and greet).
- When all three involved parties (the foster, the adopter and the adoption coordinator) are in agreement that the right home has been found for dog, a request for adoption will be submitted by the application coordinator for final approval.
- When approval is received, arrangements for transfer/transport can then be made. The adoption coordinator will let Sue DeBili know so she can prepare the contract. The state coordinators for both the state the dog is currently in and the state the dog is going to (if applicable) will also be informed. If needed, the dog will be added to the Transport Needed list so the transport team can make arrangements.
- When your dog is ready to move, whether to another foster or a forever home, you will receive an email asking questions about health and behavior, dates preventatives were given, and possibly other questions. Please answer those questions in a timely manner as this will help ease the transition for your foster dog, prepare the next home for what to expect, and sometimes get needed supplies to the next home.
- Fosters are copied when the contract is sent out, and when it's been returned with payment. Please check your email for these notices. Please note that under no circumstances is a dog allowed to be transferred to an adopter until Sue DeBili sends a confirming email that the signed contract and adoption fee has been received by NGPR.

Transport

Foster dogs are transported regularly; from the shelter to the local foster home, to a northern foster home, to an adopter. Since the origin and the destination of the dogs vary widely, there really is no easy, simple or exceptionally convenient transport, although we do try to arrange transports to be no more than an hour away from a foster or adopter. Transports may be all or partially done by volunteers or by a paid transport.

A copy of the dog's vaccinations should travel with him/her. These should also be uploaded to our online data base in case the hard copy is lost. If you are sending a dog on transport (or transferring to an adopter), please check with your foster coordinator to be sure that NGPR has a copy of all the vet records in your possession. You may be asked for this information by an administrator at the time of transport so they can complete the Foster Transfer Form. See Attachment C for the Medical Requirements for Rescue Dogs. If your dog is missing required paperwork, please let your foster coordinator know as soon as possible. Interstate transport animals requires a health certificate issued by a vet showing all vaccinations. This is federal law. The health certificate requires a sending party which can be the foster home's information. The receiving party should be the northern foster home or adopter's information. Please ask Sue DeBili if you do not know what is appropriate for the HC.

In addition, some states such as Massachusetts put additional burdens on rescues by requiring the dog to go directly into quarantine for 2 days. If your foster dog is going to Massachusetts, please contact Nancy LaPointe at nancy.ngpr@gmail.com as the quarantine's facility's information must be written on the Health Certificate as the receiving party. If your foster dog is traveling to Maine, he or she will need a Lepto vaccination. When included with parvo/distemper shots, it is referred to as the "7-way" vaccine.

Medical

- The health of your foster dog is one of our top concerns. Please be attentive and help monitor this.
- Medical Issues: Call or email the medical director listed on the FTF. Please do not wait for the weekend if you have any medical concerns regarding the dog in your foster care. Medical care in an emergency facility costs 2-3X as much than a routine visit.
- If you are approved for a medical expense, please ask your foster coordinator for the vet letter to submit to your veterinarian so he understands how we work.
- NGPR does not use any VCA (Veterinary Centers of America) Hospitals. If you use a VCA vet for your personal vet, please contact us about finding another vet in your area that we can work with.
- Reimbursement: If you have incurred a medical expense or any other expense and need reimbursement, write your name and address on the invoice and text a photo to Nancy LaPointe, (860) 343-7912. Checks are cut on the 1st and 15th of the month. Please be sure to keep a copy of the invoice for your records.

Foster Resources

You will receive a Foster Transfer Form (FTF) prior to receiving your dog. It has contact information, and information about the dog's medical status. Please read this document very carefully as it states your responsibilities, and ours, in the event of a medical emergency. If at any time you have any concerns, please contact the following:

- Please contact your foster coordinator with any questions or concerns. If you need guidance with general training or help working with undesirable behaviors, NGPR has experienced volunteers that are happy to assist. Remember, with behavioral concerns/issues, the earlier advice is sought, the better so please don't hesitate to contact your foster coordinator.
In the event of an emergency, if you are unable to reach your foster coordinator, please refer to the foster transfer form for contact information.
- Read the "Your New Rescue Dog" manual you receive so you will be prepared to welcome your foster dog.

- Great photos and videos can help dogs get adopted more quickly. If digital photography isn't your thing, enlist friends or family to help with photo shoots or consult this list http://www.heartsspeak.org/artist\_directory/ for professional photographers in your area who will take photos free of charge.
- Additional forms and tutorials can be found on Facebook at NGPR's Foster Family page under Files and at www.nationalpyr.org/volunteer-docs. Your foster coordinator can give you the password.

FAQ

What are my responsibilities as a foster?

- Provide food and love. If you have experience with basic training anything you can teach your foster is appreciated.
- Ensure your foster dog has been fully vaccinated, chipped, spayed or neutered.
- Talk to prospective adopters about your foster to tell them about the dog. Keep notes whenever possible of the dog's quirks, reactions to other animals and children, what he enjoys playing with, what food you have transitioned him to, etc."
- Write or update the bio for the website as you learn more about your foster and provide new photos. This can be emailed to your state coordinator or to Debi Freedman at debi@nationalpyr.org.
- Be sure that your foster Pyr receives monthly heartworm preventative and flea/tick meds. Contact Sandy Clary sandyspyrnewf60@hotmail.com and be sure to give her the current weight of the dog if you have not received these medications.
- Bathe and groom your foster dog. Many foster homes use the hose outside during warmer months and DIY bathing facilities at pet supply stores. If a dog comes to you matted to the point you are unable to groom him/her, please contact your state coordinator. NGPR will pay for grooming costs under those circumstances. Many groomers will offer rescue discounts, so please ask first. A dog should be clean and brushed prior to leaving your home.
- Socialize your foster dog. Many foster Pyrs have been used as livestock guardian dogs or farm dogs and have never been in a car, in a store, on a street or around a lot of people. Most adjust well but others really need socialization work. The more you can expand your foster dog's horizons, the more well-adjusted the dog will be and the more adoptable.
- Get your foster dog used to a collar and leash and teach your dog to sit for everything, before eating, before getting attention and before having a leash put on. NGPR believes in the "Nothing in Life is Free" method of training and we encourage all of our adopters and foster homes to utilize this method. Pyrs can be trained!

How do I get assigned a foster Pyr?

We match fosters based on their temperaments and your situation; for example: whether you have cats, birds or other pets, the disposition and age of your own dog(s), the age of your children (when applicable), the height of your fence and your experience with Pyrs.

Does the dog come to me straight from the shelter?

It depends. Some areas have lots of pyrs in shelters, while in other areas local shelters have never had even one. If you receive a dog directly from a shelter, it is good practice to quarantine the new dog from your other dogs and restrict their access within your home and on your property for a few days.

What should I feed her/him?

There are suggestions in the 'Your New Rescue Dog' handbook, but whatever you are feeding your own dogs is should be fine. When possible, please ask your rescue contact what the dog has been eating. Getting a small bag and transitioning gradually will reduce stomach upset. If you are fostering two or more dogs, please contact

Sue DeBili 203-907-7976 about help with food costs. Requests must be in writing and sent within 30 days of the second dog's arrival in your home. If you're approved, text a photo of your receipts to Nancy LaPointe, (860) 343-7912.. Total the amount you are requesting and write your name and address on them. Please be sure to keep a copy for your records.

Do I need to crate?

Crating is highly recommended as it gives the new foster dog a safe place to retreat to, be fed inside of or be restricted to in the event it is chasing cats or needs to be crated during family mealtimes. It is also extremely useful help resolve chewing or housebreaking issues. Do not use the crate as place of punishment for your dog and be sure you have the correct size crate. An adult Pyrenees requires a 48 to 54" inch crate which can be pricey. If you need assistance obtaining one, we ask that you look for a used one to help with the expense. They can usually be found on Craigs List, Ebay and other recycling resources. You can also check with your local SPCA.

Can I use my vet?

Yes, but you do need authorization to see a veterinarian--except in emergency situations. The FTF will outline specific situations. It is preferable that we call in a credit card to the vet for payment, it is much easier for the rescue and you will not have to wait for reimbursement. If you are authorized to use a local vet, we do request that you look for low cost options in your area. Some local shelters and SPCA's offer discount veterinary services. We have a veterinary authorization letter that explains how we work that we will send you or fax to your vet in advance. Please ask your vet if they will give a rescue discount, we can provide proof of non-profit status if necessary. Do not purchase medications from your vet without prior authorization. In some cases, medications can be sent to you in lieu of a vet visit, so remember to get advance approval for non-emergency vetting.

What expenses are tax deductible?

Anything that you purchase for your foster is deductible as a charitable expense. If you are willing to donate towards a medical or other expenses that total $250 or more the IRS requires a receipt from the organization. The charitable deduction for travel is 19 cents/mile. For more information see IRS pub 526.

What is the adoption process?

Applications are reviewed by an adoption coordinator who does the initial interview and vet check. A home visit is required to evaluate the potential adopters and the living area. This may be done before, after or in conjunction with making selection of a dog. If your dog is selected, you will be asked to contact the applicant to tell them more about your foster dog. The adopter may or may not choose to meet the dog depending on whether they are local to you. If they would like to meet the dog prior to adoption, this can be done wherever is convenient for both of you. When all the steps to adoption are completed (application, interview, vet check and home visit) and everyone is in agreement (foster home, adoption coordinator and applicant) that the dog is a good match, the adoption coordinator will request that a contract be drawn up. Once the contract is signed and payment is made, arrangements can then be made to transfer the dog to the new family. Foster dogs should not be turned over to the new owners until you have received confirmation that the contract is signed and payment has been completed.

What if I need to travel and can't take my foster dog?

Please let your state foster coordinator know to discuss options.

What if I want to adopt my foster dog?

Please let your state foster coordinator know if you decide that your foster dog is a perfect fit in your home. Foster failures are not uncommon but it's much better to discuss this sooner rather than later so a potential adopter is not disappointed.
